Frontiers of Integrity: The Impact of Generative AI on Military Post-Secondary Institutions and Training Establishments (May 21–23, 2025, online)

Are you teaching in higher education—war studies, law, literature, history, psychology, biology, or beyond? Are you curious, concerned, or unsure about how Generative AI (GenAI) is shaping your field and the military? Join an international conversation on the impact of GenAI on military education.

You do NOT need to be an AI expert to participate! This conference is about sharing ideas, asking questions, and exploring practical strategies. Pedagogical experiments, classroom challenges, and even everyday observations make valuable contributions.

Why join?

- To present: No research project? No problem! Your insights and experiences matter.
- To attend: Learn from educators across disciplines and institutions and great keynote speakers from across the world.
- To discuss: Explore how we can use GenAI responsibly while maintaining academic integrity.

 Proposal Deadline: January 31, 2025 (but will be extended for PUPP members until February 28)

 Early Bird Registration: Until April 30, 2025

For any questions, please email Dr. Lucie Moussu, organizer of the conference, at frontiersofintegrity@gmail.com

The banner features a stylized image of a woman's head with circuitry on the left. The central text reads: "FRONTIERS of Integrity CONFERENCE" with a shield logo. Below this is the subtitle "The Impact of Generative AI on Military Post-Secondary Institutions and Training Establishments" and the dates "May 21 to 23, 2025". It also lists "Online" and the email "frontiersofintegrity@gmail.com". On the right, there is a QR code and a button that says "Registration now open!". At the bottom right, it states "Proposal/abstract submission deadline: January 31, 2025".
